SAYS PRESIDENT IS SEEKING PEACE

William J. Bryan's Declaration Applauded by Friends of Peace Convention.

CHEERS ALSO FOR ATTACK ON SALES OF MUNITIONS

Former Secretary of State Fervently Expresses Hope That U. S. Will Avoid War.

CHICAGO, September 7.—Prolonged applause greeted William J. Bryan during his address before the national convention of the Friends of Peace yesterday, when he said:

"I want you to be thankful that this country's President loves peace, and is trying, with every means at his disposal, to preserve our country's peace."
Shortly before the delegates had cheered Representative Henry Vollmer of Iowa while he attacked the administration for permitting shipments of war munitions from America to Europe.

Both spoke at the afternoon session, the concluding business meeting of the convention.

Before adjourning, the convention instructed its officers to make known to President Wilson and Congress the purposes of the Friends of Peace as embodied in the resolutions adopted at the morning session.

Declares for Freedom of Seas.
The resolutions, which were styled "A New Declaration of Independence," made no formal demand for an embargo on munitions of war, but declared for the freedom of the seas to all commerce, including that with all belligerent nations, and opposed manufacture of death-dealing implements for profit.

The officers also were instructed to draw up bills embodying these principles for presentation to the next Congress.

The best applause-gathering incident of the convention took place at the afternoon session, when Jeremiah A. O'Leary of New York, one of the speakers, called Rev. G. C. Berkemir, a German-American delegate, and Rev. J. H. S. Somerville, an Anglo-American delegate, to the speaker's stand and requested them to clasp hands as a visible refutation of charges that the convention was a pro-German gathering.

Rev. Berkemir, a Lutheran minister, clasped Rev. Somerville, an Episcopalian minister, in his arms and kissed him on both cheeks, while the audience burst into frantic applause.

Discusses Ethics of War.
Mr. Bryan confined his address to a discussion of the ethics of warfare, the necessity, as he described it, of the United States keeping out of the present trouble, and of the duties of citizens in doing all in their power not to endanger the country's peace. In part, he said:

"We must not be too hasty to criticize those in official position, who, as I know from experience, are often misrepresented and misunderstood. I think the President has not allowed himself to be misled."

Subsequent Conference Probable.
The demands will be submitted to the operators by President White about two weeks after the convention closes. If the procedure of four years ago is followed the operators will suggest a conference between the scale committee of the miners and representatives of the operators. At this conference an effort will be made to draft an agreement satisfactory to both sides to replace the present contract.

President White recently conducted a membership campaign in the anthracite region and union officials claim that 80 per cent of the mine workers are now members of their organization. Both operators and miners are optimistic as to the outlook and expect no serious difficulty in reaching a satisfactory agreement.

Congratulates Fair Management.
Charles G. Moore, president of the Pacific exposition, is the recipient of congratulations on the "financial emancipation" of the exposition, telegraphed yesterday from the California State Association of the District of Columbia.

The association's secretary, Joseph J. O'Brien, sent the telegram, which called attention to the valuable part played by France in sustaining the efforts of the management to secure foreign exhibitors.

ways been given full credit for his efforts to preserve peace. You will recall that when I resigned from the cabinet I said that the President and I did not differ in our desire to maintain peace, but only as to the means to the end.

"It behooves all of us to maintain tolerance and charity in the movement for peace and to invite co-operation from all."

"This war proves that preparedness is not a preventive of war."

People Opposed to Strife.
"I have been speaking and traveling in the central states of the upper Mississippi valley, and from what I hear I believe the people do not want war. You can't make the people prepare for war until you convince them this country is about to be invaded."

"I want to warn you you can't transplant to America the hatred that are vexing Europe unless you are prepared to eat of the fruit of the tree."

"If the dogs of war must fight in Europe, let them fight. But let us avoid hydrophobia in this country."

"There is a difference between one's right and one's duty. Sometimes it is a citizen's duty not to exercise his rights. Citizens should keep out of the danger zone of the European conflict."

America Must Stay Neutral.
"America must remain neutral so as to preserve the useful task of mediation for herself after the war is over."

Representative Vollmer, in his address, recited the fact that he had helped to introduce in Congress an act providing for an embargo on shipments of munitions abroad. He said he still stood for the act, and that, far from being unneutral, as its opponents had charged, the country could not be honestly neutral without it.

"To be neutral," said Mr. Vollmer, "is not to pretend to be willing to help both sides when we are perfectly aware that one side cannot get our help. This is what our worthy President once called 'neutrality' in the case of Mexico. Why cannot he see it that way in the case of Germany?"

UNITED MINE WORKERS MEET IN WILKES-BARRE
Formulation of New Wage Scale Principal Business of Tri-District Convention.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., September 7.—Several hundred delegates were in attendance today at the opening of the tri-district convention of the United Mine Workers, which will discuss the formulation of a new wage scale, which is to be presented to the coal operators prior to the expiration of the present agreement April 1, 1916.

The principal demands will include a wage increase of from 20 to 25 per cent; an eight-hour day; a system of adjusting disputes "which will make for expediency"; to supplant the present conciliation board, and complete recognition of the union.

The demands will be submitted to the operators by President White about two weeks after the convention closes. If the procedure of four years ago is followed the operators will suggest a conference between the scale committee of the miners and representatives of the operators. At this conference an effort will be made to draft an agreement satisfactory to both sides to replace the present contract.

President White recently conducted a membership campaign in the anthracite region and union officials claim that 80 per cent of the mine workers are now members of their organization. Both operators and miners are optimistic as to the outlook and expect no serious difficulty in reaching a satisfactory agreement.

GLENN H. CURTISS WINNER IN PATENT LITIGATION
Controversy With Albert H. Janin Over Hydroaeroplane Royalties Decided in His Favor.

The patent office has given a decision in favor of Glenn H. Curtiss in his litigation with Albert H. Janin over hydroaeroplane patents. The decision gives Curtiss exclusive rights in this country for all marine flying machines, it is thought. Recent rulings gave Curtiss the sole title to flying boat patents, and the new decision is interpreted as giving him complete control of the entire seaplane situation—both flying boats and hydroaeroplanes. He will now be able to collect royalties for machines of either type built in this country.

Device for Balancing Machine.
The patent involved in the litigation was on a device which balanced the flying machine on the water and at the same time enabled it to rise from the surface at a high rate of speed. It consisted of a small wooden plane attached to the bottom of floats supporting the lower wings.

Mr. Janin, who is a cabinetmaker on Staten Island, claimed that he made the invention in 1909, before Mr. Curtiss had succeeded with his flying boats, and that he applied for a patent first on January 26, 1911, while Curtiss did not apply until August of that year. He said this inability to finance his ideas had prevented him from putting them into practice.

It is understood that Mr. Janin will appeal to the courts from the decision of the patent office.

A popular minister avoids touching the sore spots of his congregation.

MRS. ARMOUR FACES AN ARMED ROBBER

Desperado Strikes Her With a "Billy" and Threatens Her With Death.

HOME OF MILLIONAIRE INVADED BY TWO MEN

Occupants Awed by Revolvers, and Jewels Valued at $7,500 Are Carried Away.

CHICAGO, September 7.—Mrs. J. Ogden Armour, wife of the millionaire, today described her experiences last night with two masked and armed robbers, who looted the Armour residence, 3724 Michigan avenue, of jewelry valued at $7,500.

Mrs. Armour, although stunned for a moment by a blow on the head with a "billy," fought hand to hand with one of the robbers. She grasped the barrel of a revolver pressed into her face, threw it over her head and began to struggle with the man, calling out an alarm to her servants.

Mrs. Armour had retired for the night and not more than a half an hour had passed when a knock was heard at her door. She called the name of her maid, and a man answered in a falsetto voice. Fearing something wrong she threw open the door and stood face to face with a masked robber. His companions, in the meantime, had overpowered three maids.

Revolver Pressed Into Her Face.
"I tried to shut the door," Mrs. Armour said, "but the man thrust his foot into the opening and through this aperture pressed a revolver into my face."

"I seized the barrel of the weapon and pushed it up over my head. Then I tried to push the door shut. But he hurled himself against the door and, as it flew open, raised a 'billy,' bringing it down on my head."

"I called for help, but the three servants were confronted by the robbers and pushed into the room with me."

"One of the robbers asked where I had been and I replied to my Lake Forest home."

"Bring all your diamonds," he asked.

"I left most of my jewels up there."

Robber Threatens Her.
"I'll knock your teeth down your throat if you don't tell where the stuff is," he commanded. While Mrs. Armour and her maids were held in the corner of the room under the threat of death to any who moved, one of the robbers swept the dresser of jewels.

Then all robbers were searched, completing their task, the men ran downstairs and escaped through a back door. Telephone wires had been cut to prevent an alarm.

Although provided with an excellent description of the robbers, detectives had made no arrests today.

The Armour residence occupies one-half a block and is guarded by a high iron fence, spiked at the top. There were several male servants, housemen, chauffeurs, and even a night watchman within the grounds, but none of them was aware of the robbery until after servants in the home had spread an alarm.

Believed to Have Sought Necklace.
The pearl necklace, for which Mr. Armour was obliged to pay $3,600 duties when he brought it to this country from France in 1901, is believed by the police to have been sought by the robbers. The necklace was valued by government appraisers at more than $15,000.

The jewelry stolen by the robbers consisted mainly of diamonds. Only $75 in cash was obtained.
